Keynotes

Keynote 1

The Da Vinci Formula:

Success Strategies for Lateral Thinkers

Being innovative means developing exceptional ideas and actively implementing them. It means thinking unconventionally, breaking habits, and enduring setbacks. Those who have mastered these abilities will be more successful in the future. One man who is considered the prototype of the brilliant innovator is the Renaissance genius Leonardo da Vinci. Jens Möller has revealed the secret behind Da Vinci's visionary innovative power, identifying seven principles for success that he describes in a comprehensible, entertaining and inspiring manner.

Keynote 2

Innovation Mindset:

The Winners' Secret

Why are some companies more innovative and successful than others? What is their secret? It is the mindset that makes the difference. Only curious, adventurous companies fully capitalize on their creative potential and develop ideas that become innovations. Their "innovation mindset" allows them and their employees to discover and create new opportunities for themselves. They do not only participate in the market, but also shape it. They become inspiring pioneers beyond the boundaries of their industries.
